STATE OF THE ART CENTER

By Jules Masterjohn

Change and continuity. These are inevitable aspects of life. During 2009 the Rogue Gallery & Art Center experienced both. Change occurred in the economic picture of the organization with the near depletion of financial reserves that had been in place over the last many years. Continuity was provided by those who value this organization and the arts – an indefatigable Board of Directors, a professional staff, many dedicated volunteers, over 500 loyal members, and numerous generous donors. Due to this commitment, today our community art center is going strong and working to rebuild its reserves.

So far in 2010 our volunteer and membership base has increased and business support has grown. Our annual fundraising auction netted healthy proceeds. We are encouraged by this positive trend and welcome new business support from Anna Maria Creekside, CDS Publications, Horton Properties, Mountain Meadows & Skylark Assisted Living, Segway of Jacksonville, and Southern Oregon Sogetsu Ikebana Study Group. We also received grant funding from the Carpenter Foundation and Coquille Tribal Community Fund.

Relationships are critical to thriving as a community resource. In 2010, we were a site host for the Oregon Nonprofit Leaders Conference, and held receptions in the gallery for the Medford-Alba Sister City Association, and for Oregon's newest Poet Laureate.

The Rogue Gallery & Art Center is an invaluable asset that provides opportunities for all citizens of all ages regardless of economic ability to enter the stimulating, interesting, and enlightening world of visual art. Our promise to regional artists stays strong through numerous exhibitions such as the Members' Gallery, the Art in Bloom Invitational, and the new Rogue Valley Biennial. By increasing our public programs like the Meet the Artist Soirees and Docent Tours of exhibitions, we have stepped up our pledge to lead the community towards greater appreciation of art and understanding of the creative process. To meet this goal, in 2010, presentations were given by Mali-born artist and author Baba Wague Diakité, by internationally known printmaker Dan Welden, and by Los Angeles-based artist and art professor Raoul De la Sota, who offered a lecture in conjunction with the exhibition Viva la Vida: Synthesis of Cultures.

Art can help bring continuity to an ever-changing changing world. So take a class, visit an exhibition, attend an event, and volunteer time. Use us, depend upon us, and continue to support us. Our mission is to serve you, the community, through inspiring and informative visual art experiences. Hold us to task. Make us better through your contribution of ideas, time, and resources.

Exhibition Schedule 8

EXHIBITIONS

RGAC is known regionally for presenting high quality art exhibitions annually. Each year's exhibition series features established regional artists as well as those emerging in their careers. Exhibitions of cultural and social relevance and those spotlighting a specific medium or an artistic process are regularly scheduled as part of the organization's interest in diversity. RGAC strives to help artists reach their potential by offering opportunities to exhibit and sell, meet the public to talk about their work, and build resumes through participation with a well established and respected arts organization. Public programs accompany the exhibitions in various forms: docent tours, lectures, and demonstrations offer informative and educational components within which to better understand and appreciate art techniques, styles, and the societal importance of art.

ADVOCACY

RGAC advocates for art opportunities and events in the community at large, often helping to launch art programs that continue under the leadership and management of other organizations. The community is exposed to high quality and diverse art forms through the availability of the gallery for use as a meeting and reception venue. We provide further presence for the visual arts throughout the community by sponsoring exhibitions at satellite venues in collaboration with other organizations in the downtown arts and culture district, including the Craterian Ginger Rogers Theater and the Medford Public Library. In addition we participate in community events such as the Art in Bloom Festival, the Taste of History, and Third Friday Art Walk.

EDUCATION

The RGAC education program targets both professional artists and new and younger students with classes and workshops in traditional and cutting edge art techniques. The Artist Teen Mentoring Project serves teen art students through workshops, studio sessions, and mentoring by professional artists. Children's art classes and camps provide discipline-based study that fills a gap left vacant in public education in recent years. From open studios to intensive topical workshops, adults can discover their creative selves, develop perspective, or learn new techniques. Grant funding and our scholarship fund make it possible for those who need financial assistance to attend quality art classes.

Founded in 1960, the Rogue Gallery & Art Center is a non-profit community art center serving the Rogue Valley. It promotes the arts and offers artists, children, and adults a place to see, display, and learn about art. The Rogue Gallery & Art Center is supported in part by grants from the Oregon Arts Commission and the National Endowment for the Arts.

EXHIBITIONS 2010-2011

Oct. 22-Nov.24 Viva la Vida: Synthesis of Cultures showcases paintings, drawings, prints, and sculpture created by 22 California artists specifically for this Day of the Dead-inspired exhibition. Organized by Avenue 50 Studio, a Latino community art center in Los Angeles, this exhibition is the centerpiece for educational programs that explore the traditions of this important holiday that embraces the continuum of life.

Viva la Vida: Isabel Martinez

Dec. 3 – Dec. 24 Elegant Forms/Expressionistic Space features fine art furniture made by Alec Williamson, Don DeDobbeleer, Julian Hamer and Dan Tilden, members of Siskiyou Woodworkers Guild in a dynamic combination with abstract paintings by Medford artist Arthur Roskofsky.

Elegant Forms: Don DeDobbeleer

Jan. 7 – Feb. 8 Sea Curtains, a mixed media fabric and light installation, will transform the Main Gallery into an underwater environment created by octogenarian artist, Audrey Sochor.

Feb. 18 – April 1 Rogue Valley Biennial will seek out the 'art of our time:' works that are innovative, compelling, and timely in form and content. Open to artists throughout the region, works included in this juried exhibition will be selected by professional regional artists Bruce Bayard, Cody Bustamante, and Ann DiSalvo.

Elegant Forms: Arthur Roskofsky

April 8 – 29 Artist Teen Mentoring Project (ATMP) displays work from the program, which pairs professional artists with high school art students.

May 6 – June 10 Art in Bloom Invitational exhibition will fill the Main Gallery. This exhibition coincides with the annual Art in Bloom Festival, a weekend outdoor art celebration located in downtown Medford.

June 17 – July 30 Art About Agriculture, a traveling show organized by Oregon State University, recognizes professional and emerging Pacific Northwest artists whose work investigates the visual resources of the science and practice that sustains human life: agriculture and rural livelihoods.

Aug. 5 – Sept. 10 Men Going to Pieces showcases Oregon artists whose compositions are constructed using small pieces or component parts, featuring work by Keith Johnson, Bruce Bayard, Peter Van Fleet and Mark McGibbon.

Sept. 16 – Oct. 29 An Oregon Love Story: Works by Betty LaDuke focuses on the early paintings, prints, and drawings by Professor Emeritus in Art from Southern Oregon University. Well-known for her work that is based on world cultures, this exhibition presents work inspired by the landscapes of the Rogue Valley and the intimacies of her family life. Many never-before exhibited works will be shown.

Nov.11 – Dec 23 Smaller than a Breadbox, the Annual Members' Exhibition is back, this time with a size limitation of smaller than 18 inches and a thematic direction towards culinary images.
